TIPS ON ASSETTO CORSA PHOTOS

Basically first you'll want to review the entirety of the replay, and find the best moment to capture, once you find a shot, you try to find the perfect frame. The moment you find it, stop the replay. If you can't catch your specific frame, use slowmo. Then you'd want to experiment with weather. Clear for sunrays shots, cloudy shots for great looking sky with nice reflections on car, you get the point. To get the sunrays in the position you want, or just the clouds to reflect nicely, you'd want to play with the weather, especially minutes once you find the texture you wanted to show on it since they change by hours. Rotating the sky with the photo mode app is a great ability we have, since we can make the sunrays show wherever we want as long as there is no obstacle. You'd want to play with contrast, brightness and temperature like you'd in real life, and shutter speed. And like that you can get some great shots out there"

GL's Discord Bot & Leaderboard

"The bot that proves that AI won't take over the world"

An introduction to GL's leaderboard bot was presented with a fancy message from the bot with the times of our AC players, but It seems that Slowpoke and Reflex inadvertently caused a glitch on the leaderboard, resulting in their times being recorded as 0:00.001 and 0:00.002. The issue was briefly addressed by the owner, Fizzy, but the bot has malfunctioned again, rest assured that the bot will be back to optimal performance once it's properly adjusted. Meanwhile, keep up the great work, AC players—your times are still being tracked, and the bugs will be ironed out when the bot is sufficiently updated.

S20

Szofer likes the Lexus LFA (in Asseto Corsa) for the sound and the ability to rev up to 9K. It's active spoiler is what he likes about the design on the car

FEER

Szofer is a cool member of GL, noticeably a regular participant in events as well as having a great passion in racing. He's chill and will have a respectable sportsmanship.

SHER

Sherman likes MGB GT's, a lot.
He's in fact a cult leader for the MGB GT. His intentions are unknown but until next time...

Moving On From MRT

MRT wasn't a bad time for GL, we had a lot of fun there. However as a part of the clan community there always seems to be some sort of controversy and drama that occurs between other clans and it does become extremely frustrating even if you aren't involved in a dispute. It also is for a fact, that no one can agree on how the clan racing system works. We weren't the best but we do appreciate the alliance's we've made.

---

Now on the other hand, Assetto Corsa is working out great, we already have a server that runs for a crazy amount of time, and the activity in the community is becoming more consistent.

TEXAS SHARSHO OTER GL AWARD

The Texas Sharpshooter Award was named that because of a fallacy. It slunded like a cool name but it has nothing to do with the fallacy.

---

By the end of next month this award is given to the person who consistently stay on the podium on the leaderboard. No prize is given out but having the title "Texas Sharpshooter" would be a big accomplishment in GL.

MEDIA OF THE WEEK

A new addition to the magazine is media of the week, where screenshots/photos will be placed here every week. This is more of a collage than a competition.

The background is a dark, moody landscape. The upper portion is a deep, dark blue or black sky with subtle, grainy textures. The lower portion shows a rocky, uneven terrain in shades of dark grey, black, and muted blue. The rocks have a rough, textured appearance. In the bottom right corner, there is a small, handwritten-style mark that looks like 'H/22' in white.

Editors Note

---

You might have realized that this GL magazine is slightly shorter, reading wise. I am making multiple magazines and combining them into one at the end of the month just to let you know. You may have noticed that there are now two page spreads (yes we figured out how to do spreads). They won't always be aligned perfectly but they will be close to perfect. Thanks for reading new magazine will be released next week!
